Redington Welcomes Barry & Cathy Beck

BAINBRIDGE ISLAND, WA – Redington is very pleased to announce the addition of Barry and Cathy Beck of the Fishing Creek valley in Northeastern Pennsylvania, to their Pro Team. Perennial favorites of the fly-fishing world, the Becks are wonderful advocates of the sport as photographers, writers, instructors and trip leaders. Barry and Cathy will assist in product development, placement and marketing. "We're excited to be part of the Redington Team and are looking forward to being involved in new product development. From our first look at Redington we were impressed with the staff, the product line, and the company's future in our industry," remarks Cathy Beck.

The Becks host fly fishing trips for Frontiers International to fresh and saltwater destinations and conduct fly fishing schools near their home in Benton, PA. Photos from their journeys can be found regularly in sporting magazines and calendars, as well as in their many books they have authored. Their latest book, Fly Waters Near & Far, is an especially beautiful example of their talent and love for the sport. As noted by John Randolph, Editor/Publisher of Fly Fisherman, "This book is the best of thousands of hours of shooting in the earth's most beautiful and enchanting spots where trout and flats fish live."
