Redington's New Stratus Wading Jacket™

More features, more weather protection, better fit, same unbeatable price

BAINBRIDGE ISLAND, WA – Clouds on the horizon or a sudden downpour shouldn't damper your spirits when you're out there fishing. Which is why every angler needs a reliable wading jacket to keep them out of the weather comfortably. Redington Tackle and Apparel Company, of Bainbridge Island, Washington, is pleased to announce the release of their fully re-designed Stratus Wading Jacket™ for 2008.

The 2008 Stratus II Jacket is made from 100% nylon Redstorm™ waterproof breathable fabric system, providing ultimate protection and comfort for anglers. Taped seams, a double-front storm flap closures over pockets and fully adjustable hood and cuffs effectively keep stormy weather at bay. Other notable features include fleece-lined hand-warmer pockets, reinforced elbows for abrasion resistance, roomy front fly box pockets, an easy to reach rear storage pocket, and a nylon gadget cord. Sized to fit any angler, the Stratus comes in sizes Small through XXXL. (Color: Sage/Juniper SRP: $130)

Redington apparel is designed to handle the toughest weather conditions to keep anglers dry, warm and happy at affordable prices. The company has been designing and producing quality, moderately priced tackle and accessories since 1993.

A complete lineup of the company's tackle, apparel and waders can be found at the Redington website (www.redington.com).
