Redington Re-designs Their Stratus Wading Jacket™

BAINBRIDGE ISLAND, WA – Clouds on the horizon or a sudden downpour shouldn't damper your spirits when you're out there fishing. Which is why every angler needs a good, reliable wading jacket to keep them out fishing and out of the weather comfortably. Redington Tackle and Apparel Company, of Bainbridge Island, Washington, is pleased to announce the release of their fully re-designed Stratus Wading Jacket™ for 2006.

The 2006 Stratus Jacket is made from 100% nylon Tactel Redstorm™ waterproof breathable shell and is fully seam-sealed. The double-front storm flap and adjustable hood and cuffs effectively keep stormy weather at bay. Other notable features include fleece-lined hand-warmer pockets, reinforced elbows for abrasion resistance, roomy front fly box pockets, and an easy to reach rear storage pocket. Sized to fit any angler, the Stratus comes in sizes Small through XXXL.

Redington apparel is designed to handle the toughest weather conditions to keep anglers dry, warm and happy at affordable prices. The company has been designing and producing quality, moderately priced tackle and accessories since 1993.
